About Chris Muffett:

Chris Muffett is a seasoned English teacher. He worked at universities in Japan and England before he moved to central Europe. He taught in Warsaw at SGH and at Czestochowa's Polonia academy before he moved to the Krkonoše mountains.

He lives now in a two hundred year old cottage 900 metres above sea level close to the Czech/Polish border.

He was born in London and educated at universities in Edinburgh and Aberystwyth. He holds an MA In English language and literature from Edinburgh and a postgraduate teaching diploma from Aberystwyth.

He enjoys teaching practical language; writing and conversation. His main interest is classical choral music and he co manages and sings in a very busy choir. He also loves old cars and dreams of one day owning a 1960s Mercedes

He is impressed with the welcome he has received in Poland and is happy because his students are all motivated and enjoy lessons with a native speaker.

He looks forward to meeting all students at the university's open days. Whatever your level please come and chat with Mr Muffett. He enjoys talking about all things British especially Harry Potter and the Lord of the Rings.
